Sen. McManus welcomes news of job growth in Cadillac

LANSING – State Sen. Michelle McManus congratulated the city of Cadillac for its impressive ranking in a recent Manpower survey on job growth.

A Manpower Employment Outlook Survey released Tuesday ranked Cadillac tenth in the nation in anticipated job growth. The survey shows 45 percent of Cadillac employers anticipate increasing their workforce while 48 percent expect no changes. None of the companies plan to decrease their number of employees.

“At a time when the state’s economy continues to struggle, Cadillac has found a formula for success,” said McManus, R-Lake Leelanau. “City officials, businesses and residents deserve to be commended for the great job they have done.”

Statewide, 26 percent of Michigan employers expect to increase their full-time workforce, 61 percent expect no change while 9 percent expect a decrease.
